

The a Small Lantern of a Cozy Library

picture by Echo

Once upon a time, in a cozy library,
there lived a small lantern.

The a small lantern was very small, and the wide a cozy library felt so very big.

Every day the a small lantern looked around and wondered if it could ever matter.

Then one morning, something went wrong in a cozy library.

The light went out, and everyone was afraid.

"I am too small," the a small lantern
thought. "But I will try anyway."

The a small lantern took a deep breath and tried with all its heart.

Every time it fell, it learned one new thing.

It was not magic. It was trying, again
and again, until it worked.

The second try was better. The third was braver.

The first try did not work. It only made things wobble.

A dark blue night sky with a large, bright yellow crescent moon in the upper right. Numerous small, white stars of varying sizes are scattered across the sky.

The a small lantern sat down and felt very small indeed.

But it remembered the faces that needed help, and it stood up again.

The second try was better. The third was braver.

Little by little, the a small lantern kept going, and the others began to help too.

It was not magic. It was trying, again
and again, until it worked.

The wind picked up, but the a small lantern held on.

A friend called out, and the a small lantern felt less alone.

Every time it fell, it learned one new thing.

"You can do it," someone whispered. And the a small lantern believed it.

Step by step, the a small lantern found a new way no one had seen before.

It tried again, and this time, it worked.

Everyone in a cozy library gathered around, amazed.

The a small lantern learned: listening is its own kind of help.

The End

listening is its own kind of help

