

Echo's White-Tailed Feather

picture by Echo

In the heart of a snowy hill, small and easy to miss, lived a little bird.

The little bird was very small, and the wide a snowy hill felt so very big.

Every day the little bird looked around and wondered if it could ever matter.

Then one morning, something went wrong in a snowy hill.

The light went out, and everyone was afraid.

"I am too small," the little bird
thought. "But I will try anyway."

The little bird took a deep breath and tried with all its heart.

Every time it fell, it learned one new thing.

The second try was better. The third was braver.

It was not magic. It was trying, again
and again, until it worked.

The first try did not work. It only made things wobble.

A dark blue night sky with a large, light yellow crescent moon in the upper right. Numerous small, light yellow stars are scattered across the sky. The bottom of the image features two large, dark blue curved shapes representing hills or mountains.

The little bird sat down and felt very small indeed.

But it remembered the faces that needed help, and it stood up again.

The second try was better. The third was braver.

Little by little, the little bird kept going, and the others began to help too.

It was not magic. It was trying, again
and again, until it worked.

The wind picked up, but the little bird held on.

A friend called out, and the little bird
felt less alone.

A dark blue night sky with a large, light yellow crescent moon in the upper right. Numerous small, light yellow stars of varying sizes are scattered across the sky.

Every time it fell, it learned one new thing.

"You can do it," someone whispered. And the little bird believed it.

Step by step, the little bird found a new way no one had seen before.

It tried again, and this time, it worked.

Everyone in a snowy hill gathered around,
amazed.

The little bird learned: asking for help
is a kind of courage.

The End

asking for help is a kind of courage

